

new employee benefits orientation

The New Employee Benefits Orientation (NEBO) provides information regarding benefits available to new employees of UCI, as well as current employees who have just become benefits eligible. The NEBO consists of two components: first, an overview of general information including benefits eligibility, enrollment, the UC Retirement System, and welfare plans followed by an optional detailed discussion of the health (medical, dental, and vision) plans offered through UC.

In order to make informed benefits choices during their period of initial eligibility (PIE), we strongly recommend that all new employees attend the general information overview and consider staying for the health plan session if additional information is needed.

For 2017, The NEBO workshops are from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for the following locations and dates:
